

To Live Another Day

Arrayan Path

I don't want to live by the rules
I will stand for you
I don't want to live by engraved emotions
That path I won't choose

It's easier to start anew
And not be a toxic tool
But everything changes when your emotions otherwise do

Because then I don't want to live another day (without you)
I won't have to live without you if I fall and die
I won't have to live another day without your love
To fall means I won't have to live another day

I tried and I tried to be true
I've broken all the rules
I always thought love is enough for someone
A hopeless romantic fool

But love you know it makes you blind
You don't recognize anymore
The power within you and everything you're worth
You are strong

I don't want to live another day (without you)
I won't have to live without you if I fall and die
I won't have to live another day without your love
To fall means I won't have to live another day

I don't want to live another day (without you)
I won't have to live without you if I fall and die
I won't have to live another day without your love
To fall means I won't have to live
I won't have to live another day without your love
To fall means I won't have to live
I won't have to live
Without you anymore