

City of Angels

Arrows to Athens

Sing me a symphony, one for the lost out in between,
city of fallen dreams,
Cty of Angels.

There was a girl with the sky filled of stars in her eyes,
she was chasing the world, that was so fast and left her behind,

She ran for days
but the days became years, hope went away
as a smile turn to tears, now there's lines on the face of the girl with the stars in her eyes.

Sing me a symphony,
one for the lost and in between,
city of fallen dreams,
Cty of Angels.

Sing back the melody,
song for the hearts left in these dreams,
a voice for the out of reach,
The Cty of Angels.

There was a boy with the world in the palm of his hands, bright like a star, but he burnt everything that he had.

Trading his life punching holes in his veins fear of the height, was a long fall from grace but if you listen close you can still hear the boy in the man.

Sing me a symphony,
one for the lost and in between,
city of fallen dreams,
Cty of Angels.

Sing back the melody,
song for the hearts left in these dreams,
a voice for the out of reach,
The Cty of Angels.

Ooohhh....

Lost but not forgotten, voices for the broken, can you hear them calling?

Sing me a symphony,
one for the lost and in between,
city of fallen dreams,
Cty of Angels.

Sing back the melody,
song for the hearts left in these dreams,
a voice for the out of reach,
The Cty of Angels.

Ooohhh....
(City of Angels)
Ooohhh....
(City of Angels)