

Ghosts in the Water

Arrows to Athens

The edge of the earth now
I've never seen this place before
The ghosts in the water
Waiting for dark before pulling us under

Below is a wasteland
With stories of empires underground
Didn't crawl to salvation
Make it this far just to bank our way back down

'Cause this is a fight to break the silence
These are the lies we've made
To try to hold ourselves up now

There's no room for martyrs
There's not any time for us to doubt
But the grey makes it harder
Burning to see but we won't close our eyes now

'Cause this is a fight to break the silence
These are the lies we've made
To try to hold ourselves up now

The pull of the tide is always quiet
But this is a fight to take one more breath before we drown

Go to sleep now
Go to sleep now
Just let go
Just let go

'Cause this is a fight to break the silence
These are the lies we've made
To try to hold ourselves up now

The pull of the tide is always quiet
But this is a fight to take one more breath before we drown
One more breath before we drown
Before we drown