

take a look around you but don't look back your surroundings have never been better a whisper alone, a city is destroyed secret societies never reveal their true nature but we could see your foundation, exposed battered threads and cocky burnt holes you ran into the safe house alone and set it on fire, all ablaze throwing the waste from my mouth onto you again and again you throw yours onto me i just wash it off

and hope to the lord
you know what you're doing to dismay your species for the last time i remain in the light about a situation so this receding begins now right in my foe right where i was comfortable you know this is about you you turned your back on us abused everything for personal gain everything was a straight up lie i have no respect for you for a two bit low life your false facade has worn itself through nothing will return to the way it once was you have wasted your chance don't try to come back

once again i'm here debating which route to take in this situation
i descend to the right side as you see "the wrong"
wrongful vote
rightful grudge
until we die