

In the realm of the legends she
Runs through the greatest fear, unafraid of it all
She dance with the shadows in the dark

In the shadows deep, she was tread alone
One path untrodden, all on her own
Beneath the moon now she glow and she roam
Embracing the dark and just carving her home

In the fire she believed
How to release it, the flame
She treat her hunger, tries to stay alive

So she light the way, not afraid, like runaways
She feed on them tonight
So run run away, run run run away
So she fight her way, for those who can't capture the flame
So they rise
So run run away, run run run away
Right now, right now

Through the darkest hour, she guides our flight
In a sign of hope, in the way of the night

In the fire she believed
How to release it, the flame
She treat her hunger, tries to stay alive

So she light the way, not afraid, like runaways
She feed on them tonight
So run run away, run run run away
So she fight her way, for those who can't capture the flame
So they rise
So run run away, run run run away
Right now, right now

In the realm of the legends she
Runs through the greatest fear, unafraid of it all
She dance with the shadows in the dark
Make the world recall
Strong to be standing here as one to be
To live as we can be

So she light the way, not afraid, like runaways
She feed on them tonight
So run run away, run run run away
So she fight her way, for those who can't capture the flame
So they rise
So run run away, run run run away

So she light the way
So run run away, run run run away
So she fight her way, for those who can't capture the flame
So they rise
So run run away, run run run away