

Child of My Kingdom

Arthur Brown

People watching from high places Print their minds on others faces See the world that turns upon them
So many thoughts lying far beyond them

Child of my kingdom
See the hand that wipes tears from my brain Tears of a lifetime
So many hours days upon hours, nights upon time Nights without time

You know for once in your life
You just don't want to be free Because I'm leading you on to just where you're leaving me
And you can follow the path though there's no footsteps to see
I won't be leading you, leaving you child
I just keep driving you, driving you wild

You know for once in your life
You just don't want to be free
Because I'm leading you on to
just where you're leaving me
And you can follow the path
though there's no footsteps to see
I won't be leading you, leaving you child
I just keep driving you, driving you wild

Child of my kingdom
See the hand wiping tears from my brain Catch the drops where minds plead within you See the teeth that withdraw their sting from your eyes, your eyes

You know for once in your life
You just don't want to be free
Because I'm leading you on to
just where you're leaving me
And you can follow the path
though there's no footsteps to see
I won't be leading you, leaving you child
I just keep driving you, driving you wild

Child, child of my kingdom You catch the tears where warmth lies bleeding from a child of fire swords are flashing in a light and a tree full of dew drips where you mind seeps to mine and we cling to our fine religion to our fine religion in your dew, thoughts for all mind upon mine giving thoughts in thoughts patterns put on your brain as they stand at hand in my garden with the key to my kingdom
