

Don't Look Back

Arven

Every time I close my eyes
I see your face, your broken smile
And all of my memories come back to life

Suddenly my life was changed
And overnight
The world has turned to something strange
The leaves have fallen from the tree of my life

Don't look back, please go on
Though it's hard to leave behind your shattered dreams
They seemed so real
Time will heal the pain oh please believe

Nowadays the fog grows deep
It keeps away the sunlight from my aching skin
All warmth and colours disappeared

What has been
Is etched upon my memory
Is cut into my open chest
I know I'll never be the same once again

Don't look back, please go on
Though it's hard to leave behind your shattered dreams
They seemed so real
Time will heal the pain oh please believe

Has all the best passed, or is it yet to come?
Will a new love last or will it come undone?
What am I here for, which road is mine to take?
A new dawn, a start and an empty page

Has all the best passed, or is it yet to come?
Will a new love last or will it come undone?
What am I here for, which road is mine to take?
A new dawn, a start and a new empty page

Don't look back, please go on
Though it's hard to leave behind your shattered dreams
They seemed so real
Time will heal the pain oh please believe