

Divided

As Everything Unfolds

Under my skin I'm drowning the world
Taste my thunder and hear my call
All the itching and burning rage in me
Is still not enough for you to bleed
At least I know where I stand

Friends don't break your heart
And time doesn't tear you apart
We're gonna pick up the pieces one by one
Put back together what was undone

I know I need to put this to bed
But ignorance is a gift so rare
Bad blood
Pumping and rushing through my veins
How will I live this way
Oh how will I live this way

I hope you don't see what I have become
Because I am so hateful of myself
All this anger I will divide
You split my soul and emptied my pride

Friends don't break your heart
And time doesn't tear you apart
We're gonna pick up the pieces one by one
Put back together what was undone by you
We're gonna pick up the pieces one by one
Put back together what was undone

When we collide I will kneel in marvel
Just to see the guilt in your eyes
It will bring me all I need
The closure I so seek

Friends don't break your heart
And time doesn't tear you apart
We're gonna pick up the pieces one by one
Put back together what was undone by you
We're gonna pick up the pieces one by one
Put back together what was undone