

Grayscale

As Everything Unfolds

(I only see life in grayscale now)
(Life in dead flowers, colours in dark hours)
(Life is grayscale now)

I see grey, the colour all around
It's heavy, always weighing me down
This numbing feeling, can't take it anymore
Set myself free from the cage I have learned to be

I only see life in grayscale now (Grayscale now)
Life in dead flowers, colours in dark hours
Life is grayscale now
Nobody told you to live this way
Embrace the devil on my shoulder
A weight to bear as I declare
Life is grayscale

They say life is black and white
There's always a wrong and a right
As I step through the shadows, I cannot see the lights
Dull and numbing as we follow blindly into this life
Take my hand, drag me from this hell
Heart of stone and comfort in feeling alone
Draining all my energy

I only see life in grayscale now (Grayscale now)
Life in dead flowers, colours in dark hours
Life is grayscale now
Nobody told you to live this way
Embrace the devil on my shoulder
A weight to bear as I declare
Life is grayscale now

Fear is all I know
As the colour drains from my soul
Fear is all I know
But in my head I'm fighting for life
Fighting for my life
