

We Forgot

Asaf Avidan

You weren't willing to change and I wasn't willing to forgive
As we went wheelin' out and in of each other's skin

You weren't willing to learn
And I wasn't willing to forget
As we went stumbling in the dark
Inside of Noa's ark

I'm just a thin boy in a thin man's suit
You are just Pan playing on his wooden flute
We are just pirates searching for some loot
And we did too much taking until we forgot to shoot
