If I gave you my heart and my word and my trust
Yeah, 'cause all we got is our word, right?
Would the weight of my love give me some of your touch?
If I gave you my heart and my word and my trust
Yeah, would you still love me?
Would you love me? 'Cause that's all I can give

Woke up, not sure if I slept, I ain't feeling well
Mind racing, I'm sipping on the ZzzQuil
Manager cracking down the whip 'cause we need sales Every day is like climbing mountains, feeling like it's hell
I see I ain't right, and my girl could tell
Should I see somebody and receive help?
Started feeling out of body and I'm looking frail
Went vegan, trying to get in clothes that they didn't sell Tornado, my whole life was spiraling
Started smoking to be social with anxiety
Mad Man Tour was the name, what a irony
Went hard trying to transcend to the higher me
Had it all, but it wasn't satisfying me
Always felt I could go harder is what I believed
Hope women numb the pain that will always surface
Tired of running, so I had to stop to find purpose

If I gave you my heart and my word and my trust
Would the weight of my love give me some of your touch?
If I gave you my heart and my word and my trust
Yeah, took a whole lifetime to write some shit like this
Would you love me? 'Cause that's all I can give
But I figured I'll just give it to y'all

All the breath left my body where I couldn't move Violated, hand on my private by a bigger dude
Seconds felt like forever, really wasn't cool
When he seen me 'round the block, he'd smile and laugh As if we had a little secret, and I hated that
Thinking 'bout what he did really made me mad
Even thought about murder, wanted to kill his ass
Told nobody except my cousin
One time, he made a joke, but he ain't know nothing
I asked God, "Why me? Let me know something"
I like girls, fuck he thought, that nigga on something?
As a kid, all this guilt laid up inside of me
Couple niggas called us gay 'cause we was designing things
I was triggered, and that shit really bothered me
Toxic masculinity was building up inside of me
So I had to have women in variety
This the chip that took me out of poverty
I was running from the people and the pain
Tryna bury guilt with the fame
Everybody here when it's sunny (When it's sunny)
Tell me, who gon' love me through the rain? (Who gon' love me?)
When it's game, who shall remain?
I just hope you never change

If I gave you my heart and my word and my trust
Would the weight of my love give me some of your touch?

If I gave you my heart and my word and my trust
Would you love me? 'Cause that's all I can give

When you give up all your love to me, then I'm gonna make you see
That you're worthy, that you're worthy

When you give up all your love to me, then I'm gonna make you see
That you're worthy, that you're worthy

When you give up all your love to me, then I'm gonna make you see
That you're worthy, that you're worthy

When you give up all your love to me, then I'm gonna make you see
That you're worthy, that you're worthy

When you give up all your love to me, then I'm gonna make you see
That you're worthy, that you're worthy

When you give up all your love to me, then I'm gonna make you see
That you're worthy, that you're worthy

When you give up all your love to me, then I'm gonna make you see
That you're worthy, that you're worthy

That you're worthy, you're worthy
