

Limitless

Ásgeir

When you're on a crowded city street
Shouting people sirens never sleep
Take a look at the limitless outer space
When the blue grows a darker and deeper shade
And you'll surely hear the racket fade away

Everybody's on a shopping spree
Buying things that they don't really need
Take a look at the limitless outer space
When the blue grows a darker and deeper shade
And you'll simply feel the longing fade away

Lend an ear to the whisper behind machines
How it renders you wordless when stillness speaks
Take a look at the limitless outer space
When the blue grows a darker and deeper shade
And you'll clearly see the city fade away