Shitty Places, Pretty Faces

Ashe

I should feel bad
I shouldn't feel better
'Cause breakup's are sad
And I'm scared to be alone
I'm feeling insane
'Cause I'm feeling happy
Never seeing your face again
I'm better on my own

Just when you've had enough
When it's finally too much
Pack your memories and look down

We don't have to wait for people to change in shitty places
We don't have to stay with people we hate with pretty faces

You think that you're safe
But you know you're in danger
So you choose to stay
'Cause what you know is confortable
You don't trust yourself
And put your faith in a stranger
I've been here myself
And yeah you're better on your own

Just when you've had enough
When it's finally too much
Pack your memories and look down

We don't have to wait for people to change in shitty places
We don't have to stay with people we hate with pretty faces

Love somebody who can hold your hand
Love somebody you can love again
Love somebody who can hold your hand
Love somebody you can love again
Love somebody who can hold your hand
Love somebody you can love again
Love somebody who can hold your hand
Love somebody you can love again

We don't have to wait for people to change in shitty places
We don't have to stay with people we hate with pretty faces
