

Tikkun

Asher Monroe

You're my addiction
Reason why my demons can play, all day
Part of my confliction
Whether I should leave or stay, oh

It's hard to break these chains free
It's hard to face reality
You and I know that we came this far
Together but we're miles apart

(Only if I could escape, I'm faded)
You're my addiction
Reason why my demons can play
(But I can't run away, away) All day
(Only if I could escape, I'm faded)
Part of my confliction
Whether I should leave or stay
(But I can't run away, away) Oh

Now don't take this personally
We both know you're no good for me
My feelings keep on holding me back
Drifting and drifting
While you never listened
Broken in pieces, like shattered glass

It's hard to break these chains free
It's hard to face reality
You and I know that we came this far
Together but we're miles apart

(Only if I could escape, I'm faded)
You're my addiction
Reason why my demons can play
(But I can't run away, away) All day
(Only if I could escape, I'm faded)
Part of my confliction
Whether I should leave or stay
(But I can't run away, away) Oh