

Under Pressure

Asher Monroe

I made my fair share of mistakes
Only time can heal the wounds I've made
Had to start acting my own age
Clean the baggage of my old ways

Every words been spoken, I'm under pressure
Every chord's been chosen, I'm under pressure
Every heart's been broken, I'm under the impression
You might walk away, never see your face again

I'm outta time, go live your life
If you can't decide, don't take me for a ride, yeah
Give me a sign and I'll leave your side
We'll be like ships passing by, have we missed our flight? Yeah

I made my fair share of mistakes
Only time can heal the wounds I've made
Had to start acting my own age
Clean the baggage of my old ways
You've had my back through thick and thin
I promise I won't let you down again
Losing you would be my biggest regret
Never knowing what we could've been

Yeah, where you been all night when I'm calling your phone and you don't call back?
Why you make me look like a fool? Blatant disrespect
Girl, you got some nerve, yeah, only want me when I cut a check
I don't play those rules, don't play me like a fool, yeah

Was it all in vain, could we ever rekindle the flame?
I woulda laid down my life but would you do the same?
Time is not on our side, you go run and hide
Catch me if you can, if you want a dose of your own medicine

I made my fair share of mistakes
Only time can heal the wounds I've made
Had to start acting my own age
Clean the baggage of my old ways
(Was it all in vain, could we ever rekindle the flame?)
You've had my back through thick and thin
(I woulda laid down my life but would you do the same?)
I promise I won't let you down again
(Time is not on our side, you go run and hide)
Losing you would be my biggest regret
(Catch me if you can, if you want a dose of your own medicine)
Never knowing what we could've been

You've had my back through thick and thin
I promise I won't let you down again
Losing you would be my biggest regret
Never knowing what we could've been
I made my fair share of mistakes
Only time can heal the wounds I've made
Had to start acting my own age
Clean the baggage of my old ways, yeah