

Seasons Change

Ashes Remain

I see the stars
I know
I hear the call
It's closing time
I sit and watch the seasons change
I watch them from my window pane
I wonder when and where I will go
And with who I don't know
I don't know what to do or say
All I want is for someone to come and take me away
You see the tears you think I've cried
And find your fears aren't justified
The pain I feel not on display
An old excuse, just one of those days
Now I know you are here
Now I know I'm not alone inside
