

Another Hotel

Ashland

She gives her body to the crowd
She watches as their eyes devour her
Got a gift and a pretty face
Still there's something more she craves

So she numbs all the pain
Does anything it takes
Just to hear em scream her name

Evil, evil

And I know she goes to another hotel
And cries herself to sleep
Is there anybody in the world she can tell
This isn't who she wanted to be

She tells herself it's just the price
You want the crown you make the sacrifice
She knows she can be replaced
They do it every single day

Made a wish upon a star
And then took it way too far
Now she's fallen from grace

Evil, evil
Evil, evil

And I know she goes to another hotel
And cries herself to sleep
Is there anybody in the world she can tell
This isn't who she wanted to be

She's a wolf in disguise
You can see it in her eyes
Like a moth to the flame
She'll never be the same
She's evil, evil
Evil, evil

And I know she goes to another hotel
And cries herself to sleep
Is there anybody in the world she can tell
This isn't who she wanted to be

It wasn't her dream
It's a cruel cruel world
It wasn't her dream
Now she seeks a new world