

Where Did It Go?

Asking Alexandria

So you're all stars now?
So you're what's "in" now?
Top of the world now?
So you're the kings?
There's only one throne and I'm not done with it, still shittin
g, sleeping, eating, breathing it
Ten years and you're still hanging on my every word with baited breath
After a decade pushing boundaries, proving impossible possible, making something from nothing, creating "larger than life"
Always rejecting the herd, always ahead of the curve, writing t he records your favorite band rip off in their records

You're all so f*cking outrageous, I can't take it
Motherf*ckers more than a little complacent
Where did it go? Where did it go so wrong?
Just sit the f*ck down, pay attention
There's too much noise, for a second listen
Where did it go? Where did it go so wrong?

There was the first one, the triple gold one, the stole by ever y f*cking band on summer tours one Then the second one, the living reckless one, the knock the pop stars off the charts one And the third one, the f*ck the world one, the arenas singing e very f*cking word one

Then was a fourth one, the wasn't me one, the we needed just a little space to breathe one But now there's this one, the I'm the king one, the I don't car e, I'm gonna do my thing one
The breaking every f*cking rule in book one
The f*ck you all

This shit is f*cking outrageous, I can't take it
Motherf*ckers more than a little complacent
Where did it go? Where did it go so wrong?
Just sit the f*ck down, pay attention
There's too much noise, for a second listen
Where did it go? Where did it go so wrong?

Don't have to like it, but you can't deny you needed me
To show you what comes next, what comes next
I've set the standard far too high for you to follow me Feel free to try your best, try your best

You're all so f*cking outrageous, I can't take it
Motherf*ckers more than a little complacent

Where did it go? Where did it go so wrong?
Just sit the f*ck down, pay attention
There's too much noise, for a second listen
Where did it go? Where did it go so wrong?