

End Of The Line

Asleep At The Wheel

(With Jason Roberts)

True love it has been until now dear
They tell me that true love is blind
But right now to me
It's as plain as can be
You've come to the end of the line

You thought I'd be left broken hearted
You thought you would leave me way behind
Well I've paid my fare
You've got more than your share
It all fits the end of the line

You rode for half fare until now dear
But you boarded the wrong bus this time
So a transfer for you
Doesn't make me feel blue
We've come to the end of the line

You thought I'd be left broken hearted
You thought you would bust this heart of mine
I've done had enough
You can pack up your stuff
Get out it's the end of the line