

I Can't Handle It Now

Asleep At The Wheel

When we were together
You said you'd love me through and through
And I was overwhelmed
I'd never met a girl like you

But our love, like many others
Got lost as time went on
And when you closed the door behind you
I thought my whole world was gone

With a heart completely shattered
I bellowed the way down
I started livin' my life
On the dingy side of town

Now you say you wanna come back
And make it up with me somehow
Well, I'd love to take you back
But I can't handle it now

I couldn't handle your love the way I used to do
'Cause there's nothin' in my soul left to offer you
To drink away my life is my one and only vow
I'd love to take you back, but I can't handle it now

I couldn't handle your love the way I used to do
'Cause there's nothin' in my soul left to offer you
To drink away my life is my one and only vow
I'd love to take you back, but I can't handle it now

Whoa, I'd love to take you back, but I can't handle it now
