

M.S. Bismarck

Asphyx

Her name it means power her silhouette brings fear
No mercy for the dreadnaught when the sight at sea is clear
She's defying every danger through mist, ice and snow
Dominates the oceans and it's depths below
She spreads terror and death when her cannons spit lead
She the ruler at sea gladiator of steel
In a dark and misty night she went for open sea
Slipping through the allied maze whose radar couldn't see
Now the deadly game begun with the home fleet on her tail
And in the demonstration she sank the hood and the prince of waves
Steaming on with dignity continuing her mission
Enjoying every victory reloading the cannons
Solemn iron majesty goddess of destruction
With her banners high to the last confrontation
Seventy-one torpedoes couldn't sink the battleship
The Bismarck became rudderless because of one lucky hit
She was too proud to bow sunken by her own crew
Now the glory lives on gladiator of steel
