

Let You Down

Assuming We Survive

And I can tell you I love you but
It's still not enough
Fill my head with excuses
I know that are useless and
Never add up

So giving up or giving in crosses my mind
Letting go and falling slow giving you time
Nowhere to turn, nowhere to burn, no end in sight

Is it okay if I let you down?
Though it's not what I wanted
Guess I did it somehow

And I could tell you I'm sorry but
It still doesn't cut
Like the knife that I put in your back when you needed me
All of these lies, they just come so easily

So giving up or giving in crosses your mind
You're letting go and falling slow taking your time
Nowhere to turn, nowhere to burn, no end in sight

Is it okay if I let you down?
Though it's not what I wanted
Guess I did it somehow
Stuck in the worst of my ways
I hope I can change somehow
So it's okay if you let me down

I'm wishing I could be the one that you want
All that you need, all that I'm not
'Cause you're honestly sweet and I'm obviously flawed
But you're hurting and crying you're all that I've got
If discovering love's not discovering me
Then cut off your anchor and sail out to sea
If this is goodbye just know that I'm sorry
Just know that I'm sorry

Is it okay if I let you down?
Though it's not what I wanted
Guess I did it somehow
Stuck in the worst of my ways
I hope I can change somehow
So it's okay if you let me down
