

Lost

Assuming We Survive

You are fire
And I've soaked myself in gasoline
Just to see if I could feel
You burn inside of me
So I make the point to put you out
If you hate me then you hate yourself
Nothing's ever gonna change
I think it's time to go

You are fire
And you've burned a hole inside of me
Leaving nothing but a trace
Of who I used to be
So I make the point to hear you out
If you loved me then you hate me now
And you've made it quite aware
That nothing's gonna change cause

'Cause you and I
Have tried to make this work so many Times this was the last time

I'm letting go
Now I'm driving down this two lane road
With my foot on the gas there's no turning back
The death of us both
I'm letting go, whoa
Now I'm driving down this two lane road
Always going too fast, are we gonna crash
The death of us both
I'm letting go

If I never get to feel your touch
If I never get to feel you tremble
When we focus on the pain
I really outta go
If I never see my hand upon your throat
Or feel your body up against me when you
Mornings coming soon
I thought that you should know that

You and I
A chemical reaction biting
Time till we explode

I'm letting go
Now I'm driving down this two lane road
With my foot on the gas there's no turning back
The death of us both
I'm letting go, whoa
Now I'm driving down this two lane road
Always going too fast, are we gonna crash
The death of us both
I'm letting go

Of everything that's keeping me unhappy
It's just me against the world

And letting go
Is that hardest thing I've ever had to do

I'm letting go
Now I'm driving down this two lane road
With my foot on the gas there's no turning back
The death of us both
I'm letting go, whoa
Now I'm driving down this two lane road
Always going too fast, are we gonna crash
The death of us both
I'm letting go

The death of us both
I'm letting go

You are fire
And I soaked myself in gasoline
Just a to see if I could feel
You burn inside of me
