

Next To Me

Assuming We Survive

I think the hardest part of being gone
Is knowing you're alone tonight
I wish I was by your side
This road I'm on, it has no end in sight
I'm feeling so alone tonight
I wish I was by your side

'Cause I need you, do you need me?
And I can feel you from miles away
As these white lines, they guide me tonight
In all directions but where I want to be

So save me 'cause I can't save myself
I'm waiting, I think I need some help
I know I left you mid-September
Summer's gone and the leaves are falling off again

I think the hardest part of being home
Is feeling so alone tonight
I wish I was by your side
This road you're on, it has no end in sight
I'm feeling so unknown tonight
I wish you were by my side

'Cause I need you, do you need me?
And I can feel you from miles away
As these white lines, they guide you tonight
In all directions but where I want you to be

Please save me 'cause I can't save myself
I'm waiting, I think I need your help
Oh, I know you left me mid-September
Summer's gone and the leaves are falling off again

Touch me, never let me go
Hold me, make me feel at home
Touch me, never let me go
Hold me, make me feel at home

Please save me 'cause I can't save myself
I'm waiting, I think I need your help
I know you left me mid-September
Summer's gone and the leaves are falling off again, again, again

Would it be wrong to tell you things that make you want to stay
And is it my constant silence that makes you want to scream
Can you just tell me one day that things are going to change
'Cause I need you next to me, 'cause I need you next to me

Would it be wrong? (Touch me, never let me go)
Would it be wrong? (Hold me, make me feel at home)
Would it be wrong? (Touch me, never let me go)
Would it be wrong? (Hold me, make me feel at home)
Oh would it be wrong?
