

Sadly Facing The End

Astrid van der Veen

the heavy blanket lies upon me on a bed a sleeping rat come sway your broken tail and I'll feel the wind but no more will it make me cold a sleeping rat should awake cause of the lack of life because of the loss but have you ever slept with the rat with a broken tail then no more should he awake

I've seen you satisfied and I've seen you longing and longing for more so if you're ever sadly facing the end then no more shall we wait oooh

the end

come join me in this sleep and the heavy blanket lies upon you and me and no more shall the day be cruel to our night and no more shall we awake the heavy blanket lies upon us on a bed a sleeping rat so here we lay so sadly facing the end

but no more will it make me cold no more will it make me cold no more

sadly facing the end
sadly facing the end
I'm empty and facing the end
sadly facing the end
sadly facing the end
sadly facing the end
I don't wanna know