Hands

Ataxia

Man, I know it has to be good
Moving apart to the woods
Dance words endangered design
Hands moving hit the world twice
Hands, out in this majesty light
Plans, Over then into the light

His whole world she does intoxicate His own hands lie farther in decays We're meant to be unplayed (x3)

Bands, down the hall
Don't know they're small
I'm picking out the day
When I will be upstaged
I'm picking out the day
Picking out the day

Friends, large and small Short and tall Fall out to their final day (x4)

Fights, too hard to recall Sing into the wall Together complain (x3)

When, I get the room I will play When, they laugh like it is the shame Friends don't tend to use (x4)

Plans, which have already been made Advance, towards the day after their day They're making plans for you (x4)
