

alone

atlas

I'm alone, I'm alone, I'm alone again
I'm alone, I'm alone, I'm alone again
I'm alone, I'm alone, I'm alone again

I know you saw me try to live my life standing in the way, felt like every single day
I know you're sorry, pass me a little wave
I know you thought we'd be laughing at middle age
I know you thought you could snap off your brittle bone
I know you thought I'd get trapped in a mental home
With a laughable bit of home and a scrap little bit of hope
And I sat with a length of rope and attached it around my throa t

But fuck that, I am not gonna be another cog in the machine!
Gonna be my own man
Gonna stand and follow my dreams
I'm not a headcase but I'm headstrong so it seems I'm old faithful, I'm so thankful for all the smiles that I've seen, yeah

I'm alone, I'm alone, I'm alone again
I'm alone, I'm alone, I'm alone again
