

'Cause there's a lot of players that love bangers these days, man you know a lot of people are making those crazy club-club tracks you know and there's plenty of it so I feel like it's necessary to [?]

Shut your mouth and spread positivity
Watch through that telescope and type your epiphany
Gaze on a star named hate while it drifts to sleep
And moons named kindness and love will present to thee
An image of a symphony that quietly sits
Like a sunset frozen at a silent eclipse
While your lungs rest hoping they can smile for a bit
And stop panicking for long enough to compile a list
Of all the reasons that you got to be happy
Every season evenings crossing to the night time
Offering your demons in exchange for a laugh
If they see you believe in hate in the past
Cause what's a dollar to a man rich in soul and friendship
I help my kin before my soldiers and my henchmen
So how about we stop feeding coal to the engine
For like 30 fucking seconds man I'll say that shit again man
Look, for the hundredth time I have had enough of my destructive mind
Fuck it, if you love to rhyme, lay them down a couple lines
Say 'em all a couple times just incase they miss the punch
Love your friends forever and your enemies, take them to lunch
Then look, for the thousandth time, I don't hate a single soul
I'll be singing songs until the reaper comes to eat me whole
Reaching for a reason to proceed with my existence
And grappling to the people who've enjoyed what I've invented like...

Shut your mouth and spread positivity
Shut your eyes and sing it to the wild
Shut your door and blast your music loud
And open up your mouth and smile
Smile
Smile
Just smile
Yeah