

Better With A Broken Heart

Atlus

Feels like I might lose my mind
Cause my mind never finds what it's missing yeah
Ever since you decided to leave me out and dry
Go and hide my existence
808s and heartbreaks
Had to learn that shit the hard way
Came home to clothes out in the hallway
And a note saying that we're through
Maybe all it took was seeing
How quick you turned off that switch
To know it happened for a reason
And I found out what it is

I'm better off with a broken heart
Than a working one kept in the dark
I'm sick and tired of taking time out
For your bullshit
I'm better off in the place I'm in
Then the hell you raised time and time again
I can always fix what you ripped apart
Bitch I'm better, better off with a broken heart

And all the times late at night
We would stay up and fight
Every day I was wishing
That she would give what I gave
Every inch she would take
When I spoke you never listen
Funny how that heartbreak
Helped me get my mind straight
Took my clothes out in the hallway
And the note saying that we're through
I know it happened for a reason
And I found out what it is

I'm better off with a broken heart
Than a working one kept in the dark
I'm sick and tired of taking time out
For your bullshit
I'm better off in the place I'm in
Then the hell you raised time and time again
I can always fix what you ripped apart
Bitch I'm better, better off with a broken heart

Maybe all it took was seeing
How quick you turned off that switch
To know it happened for a reason
And I found out what it is

I'm better off with a broken heart
Than a working one kept in the dark
I'm sick and tired of taking time out
For your bullshit
I'm better off in the place I'm in
Then the hell you raised time and time again
I can always fix what you ripped apart
Bitch I'm better, better off with a broken heart