

Hitting Every Red Light

Atlus

You got me hitting every Red Light
But take my time when it turns green
Won't make it home before the sunrise
Cause by your side I just can't sleep
Overtime working, cause this isn't working
I know I need something more
No you're not the one, a face that I put on
Everytime I reach for the door

Turn up the radio, got every window rolled 65 instead of 80
Right lane and I'm driving slow
Don't care if dinners cold
I-85 in my mercedes
Stuck inside my head, loves got a mind of its own
I can't find the words, so I don't pick up my phone
Heading back to you, but I still feel so alone
Exit of the highway I know

You've got me hitting every Red Light
But take my time when it turns green
Won't make it home before the sunrise
Cause by your side I just can't sleep
Overtime working, cause this isn't working
I know I need something more
No you're not the one, a face that I put on
Everytime I reach for the door
You got me hitting every red light
You got me hitting every red light

What if in twenty years I'm still right here
Going from work straight to the bar
And hating what I see
Thinking I might be happier if I crashed this car
Stuck inside my head, love has a life of its own
Never picked it up, so you stopped calling my phone
Heading back to you, but we both feel so alone
Exit off the highway I know

You've got me hitting every Red Light
But take my time when it turns green
Won't make it home before the sunrise
Cause by your side I just can't sleep
Overtime working, cause this isn't working
I know I need something more
No you're not the one, a face that I put on
Everytime I reach for the door
You got me hitting every red light
You got me hitting every red light
