

Nothing Without You

Atlus

Why does every road I take lead back to you
You fill the void where my heart
Should be oh yeah I know it's true
That I'm just a shell of myself without your taste
All the demons I have that you erase
Or at least the ones that you keep at bay

Cause when I'm drowning in the bottle that's when I feel complete
If I'm not surrounded by chaos I feel like I ain't me
When I feel hopeless and broken your courage all that I need
I need a taste of that bourbon to get me back on my feet

Long nights and plastic bottles
A case of Barefoot Moscato
Chilling with all my sorrows
I love feelin this hallow
I can't stop
Though I need to
You're my strength
What else can I do

When I'm nothing without you

Why does every road you take lead back to me
Just when I thought I finally found the strength to up and leave
I'm once again under your spell
All the withdrawals and all the hell that I've been through
To wind up back in my cell
Cause when I'm drowning in the bottle that's when I feel complete
If I'm not surrounded by chaos I feel like I ain't me
When I feel hopeless and broken your courage all that I need
I need a taste of that bourbon to get me back on my feet

Long nights and plastic bottles
A case of Barefoot Moscato
Chilling with all my sorrows
I love feelin this hallow
I can't stop
Though I need to
You're my strength
What else can I do

When I'm nothing without you
When I'm nothing without you
