

Gone

Atreyu

What a shame all your sweet remains are scattered across the room

Cigarettes that once graced your lips are now trampled wounds

There were times I thought I would try to reach out to you

But now sorry's late and it's overplayed, just a sad excuse

I didn't know how to love you, I didn't know how to care

Stood on the cracks while you fell through, I watched as you disappeared

I didn't know how to love you, I know that it wasn't fair

Think we both know who to point to, I have to live with your tears

And now you're gone, gone, gone

And now you're gone, gone, gone

I picture you on the steps, the way you cradled your head

Remembering how you wept and now my biggest regret

Is all that I never said, I couldn't give you my best

We came apart at the threads

I didn't know how to love you, I didn't know how to care

Stood on the cracks while you fell through, I watched as you disappeared

I didn't know how to love you, I know that it wasn't fair

Think we both know who to point to, I have to live with your tears

And now you're gone

And now you're gone, gone, gone

Come on

I didn't know how to love you, I didn't know how to care

Stood on the cracks while you fell through, I watched as you disappeared

I didn't know how to love you, I know that it wasn't fair

Think we both know who to point to, I have to live with your tears

And now you're gone (I'm watching), gone (I'm watching), gone (I'll watch as you disappear)

And now you're gone (I'm watching), gone (I'm watching), gone (I'll watch as you disappear)

And now you're gone (I'm watching), gone (I'm watching), gone (I'll watch as you disappear)

And now you're gone (I'm watching), gone (I'm watching), gone (I'll watch as you disappear)

I'm watching, I'm watching, I'll watch as you disappear
I'm watching, I'm watching, I'll watch as you disappear
