

Drifting Away

Audien

I've been searching for a part, to get back to
The place we were before
But I'm running out of time
Should have let you
Break down all my walls

Now I'm lonely, there's nobody
Who make me feel like home
But I'm running outta time
To get back to you, mmm

I'm so caught up, into myself
I'm losing touch just like you said

With every second in the spotlight
I need a minute to be closer to you
And every day out in the high life
Oh I keep drifting away
And I know I keep saying I'm sorry
Even though nothing changes just call me, back
Cuz every second in the spotlight

Oh I keep drifting away from you
Oh I keep drifting away from you
Oh I keep drifting away from you

I got everything I want, thought I needed
But I just feel so numb
Cuz I'm living in a dream
But it feels like, the barrel of a gun

Cuz I'm lonely, with nobody
There's no place that feels like home
And I'm living in a dream
But I just feel so numb

With every second in the spotlight
I need a minute to be closer to you
And every day out in the high life
Oh I keep drifting away
And I know I keep saying I'm sorry
Even though nothing changes just call me, back
Cuz every second in the spotlight

Oh I keep drifting away from you
Oh I keep drifting away from you
Oh I keep drifting away

Oh I keep drifting away from you
Oh I keep drifting away from you
