Bridges and Anchors

Audrey Horne

Ten years in a comatose
I always knew I would get out of here someday
Somebody's gonna come around
And burn this caravan down to the ground
Locked in among these animals
I can't sleep when they look at me this way
I'm gonna get my fingers burned to the bone
Leaving ashes you can dust for prints

Damn the bridges I forgot to burn
And every stone that's been left unturned for years
Long gone now
Fuck the anchors that's been left at sea
It goes to show it wasn't meant to be for me
Not for me

Shot down and put to sleep again
This is the last resort for me and the boys
We're never ever giving in, oh no!
We're standing put, and we'll get by on
Time, coffee, pills and cigarettes
I had a plan, the blueprints, and a gun
But here's the brutal truth:
There's no escape from this mothership

Damn the bridges I forgot to burn
And every stone that's been left unturned for years
Long gone now
Fuck the anchors that's been left at sea
It goes to show it wasn't meant to be for me
Not for me

So here's what you get for staying inside
Too long on your own
Shoveling shit, your 're never getting out
I know you've been told that the doors are unlocked
So what? This is home!
It's all that we've got, we're never going out

For those who tried, for those who never made it
For those who ran but never came far enough
For those who bled and poured out their heartache
Your sacrifice will be recognized one day
For those who did more than what's required
For those who sang, for those who inspired
For those who laughed while the rest of us were crying
Here's a shout, you made us feel alive
Yes, you did

Damn the bridges I forgot to burn
And every stone that's been left unturned for years
Long gone now
Fuck the anchors that's been left at sea
It goes to show it wasn't meant to be for me
Not for me
Not for me
Not for me
