

Redemption Blues

Audrey Horne

Good God, it must have been the poison
That left a hole where my senses once were
Someone should have seen this comin'
So tell your friends to keep their hands
Where I can see them

I'm going nowhere
It's safe to say that I'm going nowhere
Today

These bones of mine are dressed to kill now
I traded all my absolution in for chasers
Blackout in the red room
And I still carry the scent on my fingers

I made myself what I am now
& lost myself

Good God, it must have been the poison
That left a hole where my senses once were

I'm going nowhere
It's safe to say that I'm going nowhere
We're hangin' out by the gallows pole
We're hangin' out at the end of rope

I'm going nowhere
It's safe to say that I'm going nowhere
Yea, I'm going nowhere
It's safe to say that I'm going nowhere
Today
