

Midnight

August Burns Red

Everyone has their own battles to fight
Even the darkest places can look alight
Life goes on when part of you dies
We're all alone and wondering, wondering why

We're all alone and wondering, wondering who'll save us
We're all alone and wondering, wondering who'll save us

We're all singing the same song
I need a good word
We're all singing the same song
Someone to come along the way
They're too busy running world

You sat through hell
Yeah
You took me in
Now, listen to my voice

I want to see who you are
I want to understand your pain
I want your pain
Everyone has their own battles to fight
To anybody struggling, it's only struggling
Within your heart
Defeat struggling and finally shed a light
Come join us now

We're all singing the same song
I need a good word
We're all singing the same song
Someone to come along

Everyone has their own battles to fight
Even the darkest places can look alight
Life goes on when part of you dies
We're not alone and wondering, seek and you will find

We're not alone and wondering, wondering who'll save us (Save us)
We're not alone and wondering, wondering who'll save us (Save us)
Save us (Save us)
Save us (Save us)
