BOILING POINT.

aurorawave

Hear it nonstop and you can't really block it out
Whatever goes up comes down
The words from their mouths slither out and they're talking loud
I wanna burn it all to the ground right now
Everybody's got something to say
You wanna talk shit, come say it to my face
Something's gotta give before this breaks

I'm here to set the record straight
You already know
You'll never get the best of me
No, not anymore
It's taken all that's left of me to keep it all in line
There's only so much I can take before I reach my
My boiling point

It's always the same shit
It's always the fake ones
With nothing to give so all they do is just take from
The people who live it while they impersonate us
If the shoe fits then maybe the games up
Everybody's got something to say
Turns out no one really cares anyway
But it makes you feel okay

I'm here to set the record straight
You already know
You'll never get the best of me
No, not anymore
It's taken all that's left of me to keep it all in line
There's only so much I can take before I reach my
My boiling point

Oh, and I'm about to blow
So now you know
It's all I can take, about to break
The tensions rising, I'm burning up
Your sense of safety has come undone
I'm pushing back now, it's time to pay
I've reached my boiling point

I'm here to set the record straight
You already know
You'll never get the best of me
No, not anymore
It's taken all that's left of me to keep it all in line
There's only so much I can take before I reach my

I'm here to set the record straight
You already know
You'll never get the best of me
No, not anymore
It's taken all that's left of me to keep it all in line
There's only so much I can take before I reach my
My boiling point