

New House

Austin Basham

No matter where I go, I'm only going with you
Just be patient honey, it'll all soon come true
Been breaking down along Norwegian towns we're doomed
My old mind's been wondering why it's taken so long to plant th is bloom

Cause I took the long road to find you wanting me
And I kept shutting you out when I'd fought you to stay here
I don't mind treading water to hold you near
My mind's been blind and needs to change, let's restart
I'm coming home now with my whole heart

Just be patient honey what is lost will construe
You know I will never tire of following you
Whether the feelings fade or you've forgotten the flame
One thing will always be left unchanged

Cause I took the long road to find you wanting me
And I kept shutting you out when I'd fought you to stay here
I don't mind treading water to hold you over the waves of my de bris
My mind's been blind [?]

Oh what a wonderful lie
To be the best one made in your eyes
My oh my

Oh what a wonderful lie
To be the best one made in your eyes
I'm gonna try to hear your lonesome cry
