

Running

Austin Basham

I am at the hillside, trapped in fear
And the wolves are coming across that open field
The end is near
And we're trapped in fear
And all these thoughts are coming, coming
And with all my thoughts I'm running, running

I reached the woods are ending in front of me
The wolves are still coming
We climb a broken tree
The end is near
And our words I hear
Still all these thoughts have been a long time coming
And with all my thoughts I'm running, running

I look down, my heart is bound
Sun is fading, darkness has begun
The dogs are barking in the forest
Hear the sounds, hear the chorus
The leaves are falling, I'm out of time
In my heart and in my mind
Trouble fills the dead of night
In your corpse, it's in your lies
Oh my heart's drawn to you

I could swear that it's true
I've been the trees' whispers sing 'We've come so far'
This is who we are
Oh my heart set on you
I could swear that it's true
Though my feet keep running away, it's true
No they never do

So I poured my heart and my love, my love for you
I poured my heart and my love, my love for you
I poured my heart and my love, my love for you
I poured my heart and my love, my love for you
Oh my heart's set on you
I could swear that it's true
Though my feet keep running away, it's true
No they never do
