

Wilderness

Austin Basham

If I go into the wilderness again
I'll find nothing there but emptiness
Though it calls on me with a mischievous smile
And you know how much I love my adventures

Baby, I've been twisting the boundaries
Thought too much of myself and too little of you
But I will make up for it in a second or two
As I share these thoughts with you

You are the one that I desire
Your moves are making me imagine
A good life with you
Your mind is something I admire
Your thoughts are made to inspire
A good life with you

Sometimes I get a feeling I need to flee
From something haunting me but I don't know why
As long as we're together I am feeling fine
Suddenly my headache goes away

Now I see things that are in front of me
You've been used to seeing the absentminded me
As I've been diving into my own past
Now I'm awake to your face

You are the one that I desire
Your moves are making me imagine
A good life with you
Your mind is something I admire
Your thoughts are made to inspire
A good life with you

Where I belong is by your side
Take me home on a rowdy night
My heart is yours and yours is mine so come

You are the one that I desire
Your moves are making me imagine
A good life with you
Your mind is something I admire
Your thoughts are made to inspire
A good life with you
