

You And Me

Austin Basham

Sinking down
Into the devil's pew
Where all my thoughts were spinning into awn you

I was leaning forward
But falling out the back door
Why am I so easily torn from what I know is true?

And I'm afraid to change
My heart into something that I can't take
And I don't wanna blame
The haze that makes the patterns feel the same
Oh, it's just you and me for now
You and me from now on

Still breaking bread
Under the devil's thumb
Where my cold heart was almost won
I've been leaning forward
But falling out the back door
Why am I so often torn from what I know is you?

And I don't wanna blame
The haze that makes the patterns feel the same
Oh, oh, it's just you and me for now
You and me from now on
From the floor on in
Don't let them fall now
You and me for now
It's you and me for now
You and me for now
You and me for now
