

Stayed Over

Austin Giorgio

You have one unheard message
First unheard message sent yesterday at 7:15 PM

I should've called you up last night
Just to see your face before your plane took flight, that's right
I should've stayed over last night
Not for the sex or the booze
Just to see your freckles in the morning light
I could've made you breakfast in bed
Could've cuddled with my best friend
But I'm here, by myself instead

You know the skies are blue and the birds sing
'Cause I'm talking about you
And I've never fallen so hard, more than I usually do
And I don't drink bourbon at the bar by myself, not no more, not these days
'Cause I got you on [?]

I should've called you up last night
Just to see your face before your plane took flight, that's right
I should've stayed over last night
Not for the sex or the booze
Just to see your eyes in the morning light
I could've made you breakfast in bed
Could've cuddled with you instead
But I'm here, missing my best friend
