

Don't Be Lazy

Austrian Death Machine

You think your time is more important than mine?
Is that why you left 300 pounds on the incline?

Come on Timmy, you're killing me!
I feel like I'm about to lay down dying!
Speed it up
Make it more brutal
Neyahhhh!

You probably also grunt doing arm curls
Thinking that your flabby physique is supposed to impress all the girls

The only place that you are swole
Is between the ears
From having to carry that toxic brain
For all these years
It does not matter if you fix your physique
You're ugly inside, careless and weak
Listen here mister bro man douche bag
I know you think you're strong
But my grandma also works out here
And she's not gonna move 500 pounds

Don't be lazy
Don't be lazy, re-rack your weights
Don't be lazy
Don't be lazy, re-rack your weights
You better put that plate away
You better put those dumbbells in the right place
Don't be lazy
Don't be lazy, re-rack your weights

Here comes my grandma so you better move fast
I told her to report to me
So you better not make her have to ask

Please re-rack your weights
Please don't make me smash your face
Yeow
Please re-rack your weights
Oh you poor baby, you must be tired
After all these looks in the mirror you admired
But I don't care how much weight you move
Put it all back or I'll remove you
I don't care how much weight you move
Put it all back or I'll remove you

Don't be lazy
Don't be lazy, re-rack your weights
Don't be lazy
Don't be lazy, re-rack your weights
You better put that plate away
You better put those dumbbells in the right place
Don't be lazy
Don't be lazy, re-rack your weights

Do you think your time's more important than mine?

I'll give you some time to think about it
Right after I rearrange your spine
