

Second Chances

Authority Zero

Take a look at the writing on the wall
It tells a story of defeat
And giants as they fall
Bring yourself up to the ledge
Now look where you have been
The disappointment in your eyes
Time and time again

Take another step and watch yourself as you become a titan
Just say when
We're all here on borrowed time
It's time for you to sound the siren

Cuz I don't want to live my life on second chances
I don't want to live my days starting again
I just want to own it all as if
I had no more time
I don't want to live my life starting again
I don't want to live my life starting again

I had a choice to make a change
And then
It chewed me up and spit me out
As I looked the other way
Not really sure where to begin
All that I know that it all must end
I've made mistakes and I've made a mess
You know the very best I can

Don't even know why I keep living in the state of disposition
No, I'll never know
So many things I could have done
So many things could have been different
And so it goes

I don't want to live my life on second chances
I don't want to bury myself alive again
I just want to take it all as if
I may not survive
I don't want to live my life starting again
No, I don't want to live my life starting again

Every story has a hero
A paradoxical ending some may say
Just take it as it comes
And save your
And save your
And save your sanity and reckoning for another day

I don't want to live my life on second chances
I don't want to live my days starting again
I don't want to live my life on second chances
I don't want to live my days starting again
I just want to own it all as if
I had no more time
I don't want to live my life starting again
No, I don't want to live my life starting again

I don't want to live my life starting again
Yeah
Yeah
Yeah