

Heart of Stone

Autograph

Minding my own business I was cruising I was striving
When you cast your spell it was too late
I was left without a dime stranded at the city line so far away
It was too much, too fast
Crossing every boundary, pointing at the promised land
I use to think love was a very simple silly game to play

I was never willin'
To lose the feelin'
You turned my heart into stone

When I was a kid I use to climb up on a tree
I use to watch a girl play from far away
Dreaming we could take a trip to another galaxy together
It felt so right, so real
Love was manifesting right in front of me
I promised to myself that I would never let that feeling go away

When you came into my life, turned it upside down and drove me crazy
I was trying to survive but I just can't take it

I was never willin'
To lose the feelin'
You turned my heart into stone
I don't believe in
I don't want in it
I rather spend my time on my own
On my own

When you came into my life, turned it upside down and drove me crazy
I was trying to survive but I just can't take it

I was never willin'
To lose the feelin'
You turned my heart into stone
I don't believe in
I don't want in it
I rather spend my time on my own

You turned my heart into stone
Was kinda hard to show
You turned my heart into stone
