Flesh Turns To Dust

Autopsy

Time has taken your living flesh Stolen your last gasping struggling breath

Lungs in upheaval, brain in a tomb Becoming sand in a world of gloom

No teeth in it's skull, yet you're eaten away Your epitaph clearer while tissues decay

Your flesh, it turns to dust
The dice of bones are carved and cast
There's pain to bring and time to kill
There's cemetery holes to fill

Despite your will, you can't command The reaper's all ensnaring hand