

Lost Your Faith

Ava Max

It's getting darker on the road we're on, I know, I know
It's getting harder to believe in us, I know, I know
But we just left the car, and I'm walking all alone, alone
I thought forever meant we'd die together, I don't know, don't know
Now you're just letting go

I used to have you on your knees all night, but now you never pray
And when you looked at me, you saw the light, but now you've turned away
Hallelujah, hallelujah, hallelujah
You used to hold me in a holy place, but now you've lost your faith

I know it's hard to stay in when you want to walk away, away
And I forgive you every time you leavin' me in vain, in vain
And I'm the one who's always fighting for us, that's okay, okay
But I'm afraid we're at the point there's nothing left to save, to save
And I can't find a way

I used to have you on your knees all night, but now you never pray
And when you looked at me, you saw the light, but now you've turned away
Hallelujah, hallelujah, hallelujah
You used to hold me in a holy place, but now you've lost your faith

I used to have you on your knees all night, but now you never pray
And when you looked at me, you saw the light, but now you've turned away
Hallelujah, hallelujah, hallelujah
You used to hold me in a holy place, but now you've lost your faith
