

Nocturne

Avatarium

I have a friend who visits in the night
He always creeps up from behind
He moves in time, he moves in slowly
To every sound inside my mind

The night is waiting, the night is waiting
To pull me in and deep within I know it's real
My heart is aching, here for the taking
It's just the break of dawn that pains me violently

Every time I try to turn around
To catch the color of his eyes
He spreads his cold white fingers on my face
Their loneliness kills all the light

The night is waiting, the night is waiting
To pull me in and deep within I know it's real
My heart is aching, here for the taking
It's just the break of dawn that pains me violently

He whispers to the sound of Mozart
You'll never be alone again
My sweet illusion, my reacting
Until the light, until the end

The night is waiting, the night is waiting
To pull me in and deep within I'm not afraid
My heart is aching, here for the taking
There is no saving when you don't want to be saved

(The night is waiting, the night is waiting)
(My heart is aching, for the taking)