

I hold you in my heart
Like a piece of glass
Making it harder to breathe
Making it harder for me
I hold you in my chest
Almost feels like dying of cardiac arrest
I'm terrified of failure
But that doesn't even matter
Anymore, anyway
I hold you in my heart
Like a piece of paper
Like a song I just can't remember

Silently, you fall into the depths of yonder
I'll leave you be, I know that we can't escape the outcome
Give me just a minute of the time, it's on our side
Then silently, I'll let you fall into the depths of yonder

I hold you in my arms, still
In my dreams
The only thing that's real to me
I hold you in my lungs and then I smoke you away
To get rid of the pain
To get rid of these voices in my brain
These feelings never change
For the better or just for the worse

Silently, you fall into the depths of yonder
I'll leave you be, I know that we can't escape the outcome
Give me just a minute of the time, it's on our side
Then silently, I'll let you fall into the depths of yonder

Forgive me, I can't stop the train from leaving
I'm here at the station, both my hands on the window
By your seat, it's 9am like I said it would be Like you said it would be
Now, give me just a minute, I'm putting on my best smile
It hurts to admit it but I knew this day was gonna come
Sooner or later, even though we said forever and forevermore

Silently, you fall into the depths of yonder
I'll leave you be, I know that we can't escape the outcome
Give me just a minute of the time, it's on our side
Then silently, I'll let you fall into the depths of yonder
Silently, you fall into the depths of yonder
Yeah, I'll leave you be, I know that we can't escape the outcome
Give me just a minute of the time, it's on our side
Then silently, I'll let you fall into the depths of yonder
