

Marbles

Avenoir

I can't imagine the way you're living
You say it's perfect, but, oh, baby
This fashion life, passive life
Closed your mind, you're dead inside, yeah
Thief of my heart, paintings off the porch side
You stole 'em all, scratched the marble walls
Honest
At least I'm honest with myself

But, oh, baby, won't you tell me
What do you need from us?
Need from us

You say it's the worst that it could be
I can't deny there's one more thing
You left me too, left me too, left me too
You left me too
You stunting for what when you know
Everything you did just burned me slow?
So, oh, my mood's, you left me too
Left me too, you cut me loose

(You can't say that I ain't a lover, babe)
(You can't say that I ain't a lover, baby)
(You can't say that I never loved you, baby)

Time together, a final effort
To try and save this ship despite the weather
And this façade ain't nothing to believe in Girl, I gave you everything you needed
But now the narrative is I'm too weak
And you don't feel, but I'm too real
And you claim how I feel ain't a special case
But pain don't linger over anything

So tell me
What do you need from us?
See for us?

You say it's the worst that it could be
I can't deny there's one more thing
You left me too
You stunting for what when you know
Everything you did just burned me slow?
So, oh, my mood's, you left me too
Left me too, you cut me loose

(You can't say that I ain't a lover, babe)
(You can't say that I ain't a lover, baby)
(You can't say that I never loved you, baby)

Brokenhearted, won't ever feel the same way
You can't say that I ain't a lover, babe
You can't say that I ain't a lover, baby
You can't say that I never loved you, baby
